By order of the court, the W. H. Davenport Fire Arms company changed hands and the title now rests with the Thames Loan & Trust Co. as trustees. This covers the machinery and real estate. The Loan & Trust Co. has no interest in the matter except as trustees, having been made trustee under the mortgage when the bond issue was made a few years ago. It is one of the branches of the company's business to act as trustee in such or other matters, and in this case it is trustee for the bondholders.

What will be done with the machinery and the plant is not known, Practically everything has been taken out of the building except the machinery covered by the mortgage. The company will endeavor to get a manufacturing company to locate there if possible, but if that cannot be done the machinery will be disposed of and the property disposed of, the proceeds to go to the bondholders. The building is advantageously located.

Want Verdict Set Aside.

A divorce was denied Madeline R. Kinney of New London from Benjamin I. Kinney of New Jorsey. It was brought on the grounds of adultery, but as it was committed in New Jersey and they had not lived apart three years, Judge Reed stated he could not grant the decree. Mrs. Kinney said they were married July 6, 1904, in New Jersey, her husband being a drummer, but he was, later a sporting writer, baseball manager and went to Cubs. she accompanying him. She accused him of adultory, and he told her it was so common among men that she ought not to complain. recover damages, error was found and a new trial was ordered. The opinion is by Judge Thayer. This suit was for $2,500 and was heard in the court of common pleas and judgment given for the defendant to recover costs of $47,60. The suit was over premiums which it is claimed the ferry company did not pay in accordance with the terms of the policy whereby the plaintiff agreed to insure and indemify the defendant. The decision was given by Judge Waller July 8, 1908, but the case on the appeal of the plaintiff was not heard by the supreme court till the October term, 1909, owing to the death of Frank T. Brown, who was attorney for the defendant.

In the case of R. A. Sherman's Sons company vs. the Industrial and Manufacturing company and others of Ston-ington, an action to foreclose a lien suit was brought to collect that amount from the estate. The superior court decided against the plaintiff.

Cases Assigned.

Wednesday, Dec. 22-Norman vs Gray, Elliott vs. city of New London

The following cases were assigned Tuesday, Dec. 12—Goudreau, admx., vs. Connecticut company; Mintz vs.

Big Share of Honors.

Some distinguished men of Connecticut and the rise of the industrial system of the state were treated by Forrest Morgan and Thomas S. Weaver, respectively, in two interesting talks, given Thursday evening before the Unity club in Hartford.

Mr. Morgan divided the distinguished men of the state into three categories—men of genius, men of talent, and cranks. In his talk he took up men of affairs, statesmen, soldiers. and cranks. In his talk he took up men of affairs, statesmen, soldiers, thinkers and literary men, from Gov. Jonathan Trumbull down. Governor Trumbull. Mr. Morgan considered to be rather less of a genius than a prod-uct of Connecticut, and dealing with him was like dealing with Connecticut herself. All the great public ques-tions which are now national ques-tions, were then local, and had to be met by Governor Trumbull, who was at the same time executive, administrator, war minister, diplomat judge in practically every court in the state. Governor Trumbuil, Mr. Morgan said was one of the two o rthree men without whom the revolution might have failed.

Plenty to Be Proud Of. Benedict Arnold of Norwich, before he turned traitor, was one of the most magnificent soldiers ever born, the speaker said, and plenty can be found in Arnold's career to be proud of it, one chooses to look for it. William Eaton of Woodstock, who marched 60g no error was found. The opinion is by Judge Roraback. The plaintiffs were given judgment for about $5,100 for a lumber bill in the superior court and the court would not allow an offset of $600 for land alleged to have been agreed to in payment and an appeal followed. Eaton of Woodstock, who marched 600 miles through the sands of Tripoll, was referred to by Mr. Morgam, and his act in taking an Oriental city and holding it for the United States was characterized as one of the most romantic in American history. Nathaniel Lyon was struck down on the threshold of what the speaker believed would have been a tremendous career. Then there was John Brown, warrior and prophet, who converted his wife and twelve children to a recognition of his sublimity of character. rollowed.

The action of the supreme court in finding no error in the appeal of the organized charities in their case against Burton Mansfield, administrator of the Lucy H. Baidwin estate, brings to a close a long fight for a portion of the estate of Mrs. Boardman. The plaintiffs claimed that Mrs. Boardman had promised to leave the organization the sum of $19,000, but when the will was probated it was found to contain no such provision, and suit was prought to collect that amount his sublimity of character.

Jonathan Edwards was given a high Jonathan Edwards was given a high place of honor in the roll of Connecticut's great men, and Mr. Morgan said that unless we recognize the intellectual stimulus, which he exerted on very great men, we would fall in our duty. As intellectual and moral mediators, Lyman and Henry Ward Beecher were cited as the greatest examples. Somewhat less distinguished, perhaps, was the great theologian, Horace Bushnell.

Horace Businell.

Among the literary lights of Connecticut, Mr. Morgan took up the 'Hartford Wits;" Noah Webster, who, he said, had something of the crank about him; FitzGreene Haller,, characterized as the greatest poet whom Connecticut has produced; Lydia Huntley Sigourney, not of the higher literary ranks, who taught young women to read good books, write bad verse and lead good lives; the immortal Harriet Beecher Stowe, and John Fiske. No section of its size in the country. Mr. Morgan said, had done more to advance the nation than Connecticut.

Factory System of State.

West Side.

While Mr. Theyer passes the ordinary anonymous letter unnoticed, he has consented to comply with this request because of its apparent interest to workingmen and because of the present industrial conditions, for the church should have a vital interest in everything that pertains to the life of men. Factory System of State. Mr. Weaver took up the rise and development of the factory system in Connecticut, describing the particular inventions which made possible the growth of the great industries in different parts of the state. The earliest attempt at apinning was in Mansfeld in the year 1755. This was the spin-

In 1804 the first cotton mill was established in Jewett City by the Jewetts, before the invention of the power loom. The adjustment of thread to the swing machine was what gave Willimantic its start in the manufacture of thread. The first wooled mill in the state was located in Hartford on the banks of the Little river, about at the foot of Mulberry street. In 1828 Orrin Thompson began the manufacture of carpets in a factory at Thompsonville. Before this carpet weaving had been a domestic industry. The infection of carpet is now made in the mills at Thompsonville, except Oriental rugs, and a good imitation of those is made. The clock industry started by a Mr. Terry, who made clocks in the winter and sold them in the summer as an itinetant vendor, has grown into what Mr. Weaver said, and it was in these years that most of the clock industry started by a Mr. Terry, who made clocks in the winter and sold them in the summer as an itinetant vendor, has grown into what Mr. Weaver said was the most important single industry in the state. Connecticut produces every year millions of the cheaper grade of clocks for the world's suply. The rise of other industries, such as the brass manufactor.

Mrs. Church and a relative went south and saw Mr. Church, who said he was not coming back, as Miss Smith was so infatuated with him that she would kill herself if he deserted her. Church remained there and his wife came home. She claimed her husband had a vile disease, and Dr. Harriman testified to treating him for it.

The register of the Newmarket hotel was produced, and Mrs. Church identified the registration of F. S. Corey and wife, New London, as the handwriting of her husband. The plaintiff was allowed to resume her maiden name, Hattie M. Burton.

Goodyear, and the unique manufacture of plane keys manufacture of plane keys

the unique manufacture of piano keys in Ivoryton.

The capital invested in Connecticut's manufactories, Mr. Weaver said, amounted to $500,000,000. It was also notable, he said, that practically all of the inventions and industries were our own and had not been imported.

OF MASSACHUSETTS CHIEFS Addressed Gathering of About 75 at Boston-Many Men of Prominence

CHIEF STANTON GUEST

Chief Stanton has returned from a visit to Boston, where he attended the meeting of the Masachusetts Fire Chiefs. The session was held in the Copley Square hotel, Boston, on Wednesday, and called at this time as Chief James R. Hopkins, who is at the head of the Somerville department, and the second oldest chief in the country, is to retire on the first of the year.

A number of guests from outside the state were invited and there were about 75 at the gathering. President Hendrick of New Haven, Vice Presi-dent Stanton of Norwich and Secre-tary Fancher of New Haven, officers of the Connecticut Fire Chiefs' asso-ciation, were invited, as were some ex-chiefs of Massachusetts deravised in chiefs of Massachusetts departments and also from New Hampshire. on Benefit of Turbine Engines Norwich Association of Stationary Engineers, No. 6, conducted the first of a series of open meetings with a lecture Friday evening in Engineers' hall, in the Bill block, having Henry A. Howe of Philadelphia as the speaker. There was a good attendance, including several from outside the membership of the association.

President John Carpenter presided and introduced the speaker, who gave an instructive and helpful talk upon The Advantages and Disadvantages of the Turbine. Mr. Howe is an old unarine engineer, and at present on the road for the Quaker City Rubber company. His address was chiefly an explanation of the 74th street power station in New York, shawing how the low pressure turbine had cut the coal consumption per kilowatt hour to 13.3 pounds per hour, as compared with 171-4 and 171-8 pounds for the reciprocating engine and high pressure turbine, respectively. The low pressure turbine has doubled the horse power so that nine new machines are being put in as fast as possible.

The committee has arrunged for another open meeting January 28th, when the apeaker is to be W. L. Larush of Providence upon the subject of "Oils." The following are the committee in charge: G. P. Thomas, F. L. Chapman, H. M. Leonard, P. Steffensen, J. W. Lees Refreshments were served.

"The marriage of Mr. Storer to my daughter will take place. When I don't know," said Rear Admiral Swift.

"Her marriage will entirely depend on her health," he continued, "Her breakdown, due to nervousness over the impending ceremony was sudden the impending ceremony was sudden and entirely unexpected. I did not realize her condition was so serious, Since Mr. Storer's arrival she appears to be much better.

"They have talked together and it seems to have cheered her consider-ably. The marriage will not take place at my home here. We are breaking up housekeeping, and all is in great

"I deeply regret the necessary post-ponement of the wedding, but am pleased Miss Swift's condition is improved. I will remain here as long as my duties in Atlanta will permit. was the only statement Mr. Storer

"DRINK PLENTY OF COFFEER it there is sickness around," writes Dr. James Abernethy, in the British Medical Journal. "Coffee is a good precentative of typhold fever and dipheris. This has been thoroughly demonstrated. Diphtheria and typhold serms have been thrown into coffee and the aromatic drink has invariably killed the germs within an hour. Hence amid contrations conditions, do not neglect among other precautions to drink two cups of coffee every more.
